

Prompt:

What impact did industrialization have on society? Use evidence from the passage to support your response.

During the early Industrial Revolution, many people moved from farms to cities to work in factories. Machines allowed goods to be produced faster than before, increasing profits for factory owners. Many workers faced long hours, low wages, and unsafe conditions. As industrial cities grew, debates began about whether governments should regulate businesses or allow them to operate freely.

Step 1: Spot the difference between both text passages. Highlight words that are different.

During the early Industrial Revolution, many people moved from farms to cities to work in factories. Machines allowed goods to be produced faster than before, increasing profits for factory owners. Many workers faced long hours, low wages, and unsafe conditions. As industrial cities grew, debates began about whether governments should regulate businesses or allow them to operate freely.	During the early Industrial Revolution, many people moved from farms to cities to work in factories. Machines allowed goods to be produced faster than before, improving productivity for factory owners. Many workers experienced steady wages, regular hours, and safer conditions. As industrial cities grew, fewer debates occurred about whether governments should regulate businesses or allow them to operate freely.
--	--

Step 2: What impact did industrialization have on society?
Use evidence from the passage to support your response.